CANADIANS KILLED IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Winnipeg, April 7.
For the past forty-eight hours, in fact ever since the news of the Hart's River engagement of March 31, and that the Canadians were in the thick of the fight, was received, there have been telegrams of enquiries from all parts of Canada to the militia department. Yesterday was a big day, a day of suspense, as Friday. It was not until a telephone message from government house apprised the waiting newspaper men that a partial list of the casualties had been received and was on the wires to all part of Canada. It is as follows:

EDMONTON BULLETIN APRIL 7, 1902.

Parliament.

Ottawa, Mar. 26, 1902.

Bulletin correspondence.

The tariff debate still continues and will not be concluded to-night as was at first expected. To-day is election day in Beauharnois, Quebec. The principal town, Valleyfield, has a very large cotton factory, with a vote sufficient to turn the election. A number of prominent members of the House have not yet spoken on the tariff and it is possible that they have been restrained by the danger of affecting the result in Beauharnois. Possibly, therefore, when that election is over the budget debate will be taken up after the Easter adjournment more vigorously than ever. The features which developed at an early stage of the debate have not since been altered, but have been emphasized. Clearly there is a party of strong feeling if not of numbers, on the liberal side who are prepared to go very great lengths, if not to any length in supporting all increases in the tariff. Just how many there are or how far they will go is not yet evident; but it is a revelation to see how many men are prepared to accept place and power as advocates of low tariff, and then are as ready to retain place and power by advocating high tariff. So far the flat footed advocates of high tariff on the liberal side who have spoken are Charlton, Heyd and Bourassa. What seems of more importance than their numbers is the extreme arguments which they use, and the fact that many of those who do not avowly take the same position discuss the question with a measure of moderation which is evidently intended to leave an avenue of retreat from low tariff principles in case of party necessity. Whatever may be the feeling of the country a calm review of the situation in the House, so far as it has been disclosed by the budget debate, would lead to the belief that the House is in the hands of the advocates of high tariff.
That is to say, that a combination between the conservatives and the high tariff liberals would give them a very considerable majority over the pronounced low tariff liberals. Besides there is evidently an organized campaign going on, at least throughout Ontario, to influence the public in favor of tariff increase. Considering that the present tariff has been framed to bear as lightly as possible upon the manufacturers, and in some cases puts them in even better position than the tariff which prevailed '96, it appears that the high tariff interests, are recognizing their strength, are preparing to give Canada a McKinley or Dingley tariff. It does not matter to them that the duties have not been reduced on many articles but that they have actually increased on some, and in all cases the manufacturer has been given every possible advantage.
They evidently want the privilege of putting on the tariff screw as it never was put on before. They see the stupendous advance of the foundation industries of the country, and they say:
"These industries are sufficiently prosperous to enable them to bear any burden that we may succeed in laying upon them. Why should we hold our hands? We have the power, let us use it to our own advantage. The people are poor and live for the benefit of those who are wise."

If ever there was a time in the history of any country when circumstances did not justify an increase in the tariff, that time is now in the history of Canada. With the national trade and the national revenues increasing in every direction and as they never did before, there is no excuse on either of these grounds for tariff increase; and at the same time many of the manufacturers cannot fill their orders.
Amongst those who make the loudest demand for an increase of the tariff are the makers of harvesting and threshing machinery, and yet everyone in the west knows that the Canadian firms making harvesters and threshers could not begin to supply last year's demand in the west. With the cost of raw materials reduced, with the same duties in their favor as before, with factories running night and day and unable to keep up with their orders, with a solvency of customers unparalleled, and trade continually expanding—when people in these circumstances demand an increase of tariff it proves that the demand is part of a grab policy and anything but a national policy. Even if there are manufacturing interests, here or there, which have suffered under the tariff readjustment of '97 and subsequent changes, what is that to the general condition of prosperity in which the manufacturing and other industries of the country at large find themselves.
Admitting that the existing tariff did not bring about the changed conditions, it must also be admitted that it did not prevent them. When we are doing well, beyond all prospects, expectations, or even hopes, is not the time to embark on a renewal of a discredited policy which at the close of eighteen years of promises and prospects went down in general disaster. To aggravate the features of the policy which failed so utterly is a strange means of maintaining present success.

THE EDMONTON INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION ASSOCIATION, LTD.

At the extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the Edmonton Industrial Association, Limited, called for Saturday at 2 o'clock, the attendance was much smaller than should have been the case, for such an important purpose. The following shareholders were present: H. Hetu, G.
R. F. Kirkpatrick, Donald Ross, J. H.
Garley, Alex. Taylor, J. Hostyn, J. H.
Picard, F. F. Tims, H. C. Taylor, J. A.
McDougall, K. W. MacKenzie, J. H.
Morris, W. S. Robertson, J. Pomereau, and G. Corriveau. Jas. Ross, Fred Ross, J. Kennedy, T. Houston, R. T. Blowey, W. J. Walter, E. Raymer, George Roy, T. Bellamy, P. Lessard, R. Matz and D. W. Macdonald. The last 12 being represented by proxy.

J. H. Garley, the vice-president, was voted to the chair.

The secretary, F. F. Tims, read the notice calling the meeting. Mr. Donald Ross explained the results of the directors meeting with Mr. Strathy, of the Canada Permanent Loan Co., relative to the regulations affecting loans with that company.

A discussion ensued as to the source from which the loan should be secured.
The general feeling being in favor of dealing with the Imperial Bank.

J. H. Picard's motion, authorizing that the sum of $7,000 be raised by way of mortgage, was carried unanimously.

An extraordinary general meeting is called for the 26th day of April at 2 o'clock, p. m. in Robertson Hall, for the purpose of confirming the resolutions passed at this meeting.

The Fourth Contingent.
Ottawa, April 1.—The British government has accepted Canada's offer of 2,000 mounted infantry to go to South Africa in the cause of the empire. All that the message from Rt.
Hon. Joe Chamberlain to Lord Minto contained was an acceptance of Canada's offer with thanks.

As to the details of the contingent that is a matter which is now engaging the attention of the British war office and the Canadian militia department. The Canadian government is now in communication with Mr. Chamberlain on the subject. Hon. Dr. Borden, minister of militia said to-night that there might be three regiments.
That did not mean that there would be more than 2,000 men.

Contractors for clothing arrived here to-night and the militia department is arranging with them as to the work required. There will be no delay in sending forward the troops.

Applications for positions in the force are coming in from all parts of the Dominion.

Dawson City.

Vancouver World, April 1.—Latest despatches from Dawson tell of a terrible epidemic of measles among Indians of Fort Selkirk, 180 miles from Dawson.
There are over 100 cases. The police have sent doctors to their relief.

Steamers Glenora and Mona, the property of Mr. J. E. Genelle, of this city, were destroyed by fire at Dawson on the night of the 27th inst. These steamers plied on the Yukon river during the summer and were tied up at steamboat Slough, opposite Dawson, a place which is generally used by the boats as winter quarters. The steamers were completely consumed and the loss is about $37,000.

Later.—Henry McMillan, who burned the steamers Glenora and Mona, confessed he did the deed to cover the thief of stores.

nothing in which our country has lost so much, and has fallen so far short of achieving greatness, as in the stupendous loss of population which has taken place within the last thirty years. During that period Canada has lost over a million of her native born children. Canada has been losing them decade after decade, and if she is not losing them to-day then we have reason to be pleased, but we have more reason to fear that she is still losing them in larger numbers than is good for our country. I am in favor of a policy which will actively endeavor to retain our own population in our country for its advancement and building up. I heard Mr. Mayfield, friend from West Toronto (Mr. Clarke) say that he was in favor of that idea, and he proposed to attain it by providing protection to manufacturing interests. Well, my hon. friend's friends were in power for nearly twenty years. They had a policy which they called the national policy, and one of the great points of that policy was to do that thing. They had time enough to work it out to a successful conclusion if success was possible under it. The result of the census has shown that success was not achieved, and therefore that policy was not possible. It is impossible to herd the surplus people of this country in manufacturing centres, which manufacturing centres depend on the balance of the people for their support and their prosperity. The thing is an impossibility. Canadian manufacturers are in the lead to-day, and the feds to-day the greatest force for the employment of sufficient labor that is offered by any country in the world. Canada has opportunity for every one of her children, and will have such opportunity for decades and decades to come. That opportunity lies in the country west of Lake Superior, in Manitoba, the British Colonies in the North-West Territories and in the Yukon.

It is by attracting the overflow of the people of our eastern provinces to our western provinces that we will retain their nationality and retain their labor and their enterprise for the benefit of our country. That is the way we can do it, and that is the only way in which we can do it. You may say, Why is it not being done? There is no reason why it is not being done. It is impossible to herd the surplus people of this country in manufacturing centres, which manufacturing centres depend on the balance of the people for their support and their prosperity. The thing is an impossibility. Canadian manufacturers are in the lead to-day, and the feds to-day the greatest force for the employment of sufficient labor that is offered by any country in the world. Canada has opportunity for every one of her children, and will have such opportunity for decades and decades to come. That opportunity lies in the country west of Lake Superior, in Manitoba, the British Colonies in the North-West Territories and in the Yukon.

This is regarded as one of the most interesting incidents of the day. London, March 28.—A week ago it was reported that General Kitchener had had certain colonial officers shot for killing unarmed Boer prisoners. The story was revived yesterday, but no details were given. The correspondent of the Mail and Empire now states that the four officers of the Four Officers of the Bushveldt Carabiniers were tried by court-martial on charge of shooting a number of Boers who had surrendered as prisoners of war. The accused were convicted and two of them were shot and one sentenced to 25 years' imprisonment. The fourth officer acted as King's evidence, and was sentenced to deportation. Official despatches on the subject are expected to be published shortly.

The Last Resting Place of Rhodes.

London, March 28.—In a despatch from Cape Town, the correspondent here of the Daily Mail, says that Rhodes selected the spot where he desired to be buried, and instructed an architect about the memorial to be erected when he last visited Matoppe Hill. The place of burial is beneath a natural cavern of giant boulders, on a kopje adjoining that on which Major Wilson's little force made its last stand. The memorial to be erected will be a prominent feature of the striking landscape.

The date of interment of the body of Mr. Rhodes is doubtful, as the correspondent, owing to the necessity of the construction of a special carriage road from Bulawayo. At present there is nothing more than a bridle path. Work on this road has already been begun, but its completion will require one month.

State Funeral for Cecil Rhodes. Cape Town, March 28.—The coffin containing the body of Cecil Rhodes will be conveyed to the parliament building on the morning of April 3rd, and will lie in state until three in the afternoon, when it will be removed to the Anglican cathedral, where a portion of the service will be held. The funeral procession will afterwards traverse the principal streets of Cape Town to the railway station. Thence the coffin will be taken by special train to Bulawayo. The coffin, during the funeral procession at Cape Town, will be carried on the gun carriage of "Long Cecil," the famous gun used at the siege of Kimberley.

Drowned in the Flood. Glengarry, Man., March 27.—Mrs. Thos. Hopkins, the wife of a farmer living about eight miles north of here near the Assiniboine river, was drowned while endeavoring to escape from their house which was being submerged by the rapidly rising water. She and her husband had been driving a team of horses to higher land when the box was lifted off the wagon and in spite of her husband's efforts was overcome by the cold water and washed away. The body has not yet been recovered.

Free Press, March 26.—A whole train load of harvesting machinery will be shipped by the Dearing Company from Vancouver to Vladivostock, Siberia, next month.

NOTICE. This is hereby given that application will be made to the Parliament of Canada at the present session for an Act to incorporate a company to construct and operate a railway from a point on Kitimat Inlet in the Coast district of the Province of British Columbia, and hence by the most convenient route to Hazelton and Skutz; however, the Custer district, thence by the most convenient route to the point on the northern boundary of British Columbia, at or near Teelin Lake or Atlin Lake, or both also from Hazelton by the most feasible route via the Skeena River, Driftwood, Omineca and Finlay Rivers to Peace River Pass, thence easterly to the eastern boundary of said Province to a point at or near Edmonton, in the North-West Territories of Canada, with authority also to construct and operate branch lines from any point on the proposed line or any point on the proposed line or any point exceeding in any one case thirty miles in length; with power also to construct, own and operate telegraph and telephone lines along the route of said railway and its branches or in connection therewith, and to make all arrangements for the use of the public and to collect tolls therefor, and also to construct, acquire, own and maintain wharfs and docks, steam and other vessels and to operate the same on any navigable waters, together with such other powers and privileges as are usually given to railway companies, but it is the people of the United States that are applied to transportation, industrial and commercial development along the lines. These are the questions which are urged upon the government of the day, the necessity of considering, I ask for protection of interests which have added to the wealth of this country $174,000,000 in one year, and that those interests shall be sacrificed to the demand of interests which have added only $17,000,000 to the wealth of the country in the same time. I ask that the greater interest be considered and not the less, that these interests be considered fairly and equitably, and that no injustice be done to them. I ask for no injury to the manufacturing industry; I object entirely to that industry and every other industry being set to one

The War.

Pretoria, March 28—about 1,500 Boers, under Delarey, Liebenberg, Kemp and Molmarans, were within the limits of Lourenco Marques's headquarters, but although surrounded by the rapidity displayed by the British troops, gaps in the latter's lines enabled most of the burghers to escape. The Boer prisoners totaled 179 men, including commandant H. Kruger and ex-commandant commandant of Klerveldorp.

The first prisoners captured it was learned that General De Wet himself was outside the actual cordon, having slept some distance westward, but Liebenberg, Kemp and other Boer commanders were inside the column of troops. The first body, consisting of 100 Boers, were sighted at 10 o'clock in the morning, March 24, retreated at full speed, looking for a gap between the British columns. A race for the opening ensued. The British mounted infantry, which had already ridden upwards of 50 miles, pressed their tired horses until they gave out, men jumped off, and raced forward on foot. Some of the mounted men, however, were able to gallop right into the gap just ahead of the Boers whom they met with a warm fire. These troops also succeeded in driving back another body of 300 Boers, who were forced to desert the scene of battle, having captured from the Von Trotha's Column.

Miss Lettie Pearce entertained over fifty young people, at a skating party, on Pearce's lake on Easter Monday evening. Early in the evening a photographer took a photo of the skaters on the ice. That evening the northern lights were unusually beautiful, and it is no wonder the merry-makers lingered on the ice till a late hour; they would be the last evening for some months that they would be privileged to indulge in this sport.

Miss Lillie Wallis, of Edmonton normal school, spent Easter holidays at home.

Miss Panay Tookey, of Strathcona, has spent her Easter holidays here, the guest of Mrs. R. J. Torrie.

All fools day has come and gone and a few people are laughing still over the jokes they played or had played on them.

"A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men."

SPRUCE GROVE.

The coming of the birds is a prophecy of longer days and the advent of spring and an incentive to the farmer to prepare for the rush.

Already our thrifty farmers are thinking of their spring duties, one man commenced to sow wheat a few days ago.

Our new merchant Mr. Brox is doing a fair share of business. Mr. Eccles is rushing his saw mill the last few weeks; the farmer will probably get all their lumber put away before the commencement of spring work.

Miss Lawrence, who has been visiting for several months in the east, has returned.

The Glory Hills people are making good use of the little snow which is left, they are endeavoring to repair the roof from the school house to the base line, in order that they may be able to get to town occasionally during the coming summer. The old trail is to be closed.

A. Giebelhouse bought an excellent horse the other day from Mr. Owens, of town.

The teachers of Glory Hills and Spruce Grove schools were rustication at the Sturgeon, at Sunnyside Home, during Easter holidays.

We hear that the Spruce Grove school has been made a yearly school instead of a summer school and that it has been closed for a short vacation.

The Glory Hills school is to be painted this spring, both inside and out, which will add to its general appearance very much. Just recently the trustees placed several chairs in the school for the use of the visitors, who are always welcome, so the teacher tells us. We highly commend the trustees of this school district for their excellent care for this institution.

STURGEON.

A very pleasing social event occurred last Wednesday evening, March 20th, when upwards of thirty members and friends of the Bethel Methodist church gathered at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Long. There have been many pleasant gatherings during the past year but this one surpassed all in cheerfulness and good will. After a short programme of music, etc., the pastor, Rev. P. I. Thacker, called upon Mr. Bert Long to come forward and after addressing him in a few well chosen words, commanding him for his faithful service, he presented him on behalf of all present, with a purse containing $10. For upwards of nearly six years "Bert," as we all know him, has been caretaker of Bethel church and never once has he failed in doing his duty given for the past three years has been given gratuitously.

Bert replied very pleasantly, using the words of an old familiar song. Recrements were then served by the ladies, who at Bethel always excel in that line, and soon after "God Save the King" was sung and the people dispersed to their homes feeling that social gatherings of a similar nature would be a benefit to all members and friends.

POPLAR LAKE.

Last Tuesday evening the literary association of the district wound up for the season. There was a good attendance; the children and all those who took part in the performances of the evening did so with credit to themselves. The dialogue by the Misses Hutchings, Latimer, McDearmid, A. Hudspeth and McAlmaire, was well rendered and very much appreciated by the audience. It is a pity the neighborhood would not encourage the young people a little more than has been done this season to make these meetings more attractive, as they have a certain educating influence on the juvenile mind.

A special meeting of the ratepayers in the local improvement district was held in the school house on Saturday, the 29th day of March, when by a vote of those present. A motion carried to assess double or put double labor on the roads this season. We now look for big things from our overseer, Mr. Kennedy, and we trust he will return from Banff, where he is at present for his health, so much improved as to be able to tackle all the mud holes between here and Edmonton.

Spring is here and so are ducks and geese.

Office also room to let on Jasper Avenue. Enquire at Bulletin Office. 44-ft.

Plaindealer, April 4th.
Philip Ottewell's portable saw mill will operate for the next three weeks at Hortowville.

The town of Strathcona took over the electric light plant from the company on Wednesday and is now the owner of it. Extensions of the system will be made at once.

R. R. McNutt, was in this week from his ranch at the Vermilion. Engineer Armstrong, the Canadian Northern was at his place a few days ago with his railway survey outfit. He says that two of the trial surveys run just south of Sick Man lake in 52-13. Mr. Armstrong's party were then travelling with sleighs but were striking out for Wetaskiwin to get carts and would return to the Vermilion country this month to resume their survey work.

A GOOD FARM

IN THE

ST. ALBERT SETTLEMENT.

Containing 370 acres, and lying partly on the shore of Big Lake, is offered for $2,500, or easy terms.

Forty five acres of breaking, good buildings, and a fair amount of fencing. Sturgeon River runs through the property. Splendidly adapted for hog and cattle raising.

T. A. STEPHEN,

Real Estate Agent, Edmonton Office 1 door east of Postoffice.BISHOP BREYNAT'S CONSECRATION AT ST. ALBERT.

The consecration service, held yesterday morning, was attended by a very large congregation. People flocked in large crowds from the surrounding district, while many members of St. Joachim's church were also present together with others, impelled by curiosity, to witness this important and impressive ceremonial.

At 10 o'clock the assembly of priests and prelates started from the palace, the sound of distant chanting, wafted by the morning breeze, was soon heard; presently the procession, headed by a bearer, carrying the crucifix, entered, the cathedral followed by priests and acolytes still chanting; then came the bishops wearing their mitres and vestments of "cloth of gold" and others wearing the beretta and soutan with purple cape, followed by the "consecrator" Bishop Grouard, of Athabasca, mitred and robed in the pontifical purple and vestments, carrying the crozier in his left hand. Then the Archbishop of St. Boniface in full array followed by priests and brothers.

The strains of the organ, with a trumpet obligato, added much to this impressive scene. Never in the Northwest, far less at St. Albert, was there gathered at one time, as many ecclesiastical luminaries as on this occasion.

The Archbishop took his seat on the throne with Father Magnan, superior of the oblates in Manitoba; and Father Joli on either side and Father Legtan to the right. Bishop Grouard assisted by Fathers Leduc and Cunningham took up a position near the centre in front of the altar. Bishop Doutenville, of New Westminster, and Bishop Legal with Fathers Drummond and Hudson, were seated in the "stalls" within the sanctuary, a number of priests also had duties to perform while others, for want of room, were allotted chairs in the body of the sacred edifice.

The bishop-elect supported by Bishop Clut, coadjutor to Bishop Grouard, and Bishop Pascal, of Saskatchewan, took their places in front of an altar outside the sanctuary where the ceremonial and emblematical robes were put on him.

The candidate, with his supporters, in solemn procession now entered the sanctuary making the customary salutations. Approaching the consecrator they were asked for the authority giving the applicant the right to be consecrated a Bishop in the church of Rome. The "bull" or letter from His Holiness the Pope was produced and read by the Rev. Father Leduc. The service then proceeded in the order as follows, viz.: Examination on the Roman Catholic religion and apostolic obligations. The oath of obedience to the Holy See. The invocation of the Saints for the bishop-elect. The mass with special prayers for the occasion. Blessing the different attributes of the candidate. The actual consecration, being the laying on of hands, anointing the head and hands and blessing the ring and slippers.

The sermon intervened at this juncture; the English portion being preached by Father Drummond while the French members of the congregation were addressed by Bishop Pascal.

The first named delivered an eloquent sermon from St. Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians. Various events in the life of the newly created Bishop were touched on amongst which may be mentioned the devotion to the church when he left the country of his birth, that beautiful land of sunny France, where one can get everything the heart craves for; and above all leaving his home of affluence and comfort, his mother, father, and sister, all of whom died shortly after his arrival in this country. Of the dangers and hardships endured in the far off frozen regions of the Arctic amidst those who belong to the lowest scale of manhood, truly, said the preacher this in devotion to Christ. In spite of all the hardships, privations and denials these were as nothing to the burden he had now taken on himself. The motto "Perigrino pro Christo" (a pilgrim or traveller for Christ), chosen by Bishop Breynat, was most appropriate. His diocese includes Mackenzie river and the Yukon through which he would have to travel making lonely journeys attended with peril and privation. Bishop Pascal followed with an impressive address and implored his brother bishop to face his duties with courage and to follow in the footsteps of those devoted bishops who had been before him.

At the conclusion of the sermon the Holy Sacrament was administered to the consecrator, followed by the apostolic blessing of the archbishop. The blessing of the mitre and crozier. The blessing of the congregation by the new bishop who walked through the congregation. The wishes of the newly consecrated for the consecrator. The service closing with the solemn blessing by Bishop Breynat, Bishop of Mackenzie.

The ceremony which lasted nearly four hours was watched by the congregation with patience and reverence.
